

Who's Who in Lemon Grove

Byron Netley is my idea of an enterprising young man. Not because he is district superintendent of the Lemon Grove School District although he carries the burden of that job with dispatch and ability.

My admiration for Netley stems from the deal he arranged for himself in his later school years at Whittier College. First he spied the prettiest girl in the Spanish class, and later won her. She is Helen, Byron's wife and mother of their two children.

It just so happens that while he is the prettiest girl in the Spanish class, Helen's father was the professor of the same class. Netley completed that class without difficulty and now earned higher Spanish grades than he that semester.

It also happens that Professor McClean, Helen's father, had been to a mission in Cuba and the Philippines, and was an ordained minister. Naturally, the professor officiated at the Netley wedding. It says you've got to be enterprising to work out a family deal like that.

At Whittier, Netley went out for sports. He was a letterman for three years, played guard on the football team. The team won the Conference championship two of the three years.

A special physical education credential was earned in sports activities. Credits for his BA earned in elementary education led to teaching, and later, to his present work.

Netley is fully occupied with school business these days. "School business has become big business," he said. "Our cafeteria gross is more than $25,000 in nickels and dimes. That is a big gross for a big restaurant and its but one part of school business. What many persons fail to realize is that the business part of school operates six days a week, even when schools are on vacation."

One of the Netley's major concerns was that their kids Ronnie, age 14 and Sherry, age 8, wouldn't be normal students because of the position of their father in the school system. "They've adapted themselves very well," Byron said, "and have neither more nor less trouble than the average student, nor are their grades off the average."

Fun for the Netleys is packing the family together and hooking a trailer to the back of the family car and heading down the Baja California coast for a week-end of outdoor living. In a family like that, anything they do seems to be fun.

While the past week has seen tornado warnings in the South Central States, the worst floods in history in the North Central States, and a cold, rainy Easter Sunday generally throughout the East, Lemon Grove's fine climate has marched serenely on. The gentle rains of Thursday and Friday brought us 82 of an inch of rain, which is still much needed. While our Easter was not provided with all the sunshine we might have wished, still raincoats, top coats, galoshes and umbrellas were very much out of order, and new spring finery could be worn without fear. Our total rainfall for the year now amounts to a resounding 29.78 inches. Although the Weather Bureau has never established a "normal" precipitation for the Grove, we can say that this is double the amount of rain that has fallen in the past five years, at least.

Smithy Promoted In Korea

Reford O. Smithy, whose wife, Jean, lives in Lemon Grove California, was recently promoted to master sergeant while serving on the muddy Korean battlefield with the 24 Infantry Division.

Patrols from the division have been probing Communist positions along the central front despite the handicap of mud, fog and rain typical of Korea in the spring.

Smithy, who has served more than 15 months in the Army, was assigned to the 38th Infantry Regiment last August.

Smithy is formerly of 720 Fourth ave., Chula Vista, Calif.

HOT FLASHES from the FIRE DEPARTMENT

Local residents are co-operating splendidly with the fire department's planned clean-up campaign in spite of the fact that it doesn't officially get under way until May. The department expressed gratitude for the consideration of these civic minded persons.

Major concern of the department is to save life and property and anything having to do with safety is a department responsibility under the Health and Safety Code. So it is the department's responsibility to see that blind corners where vision is obscured are cleaned up.

Firemen will make inspections during the clean-up campaign and warning will be issued where necessary. Property owners will be given a reasonable time to comply after the inspection.

First aid classes continue to be a popular Friday event at the firehouse.

Oh yes, no fires this week.

LOCAL BUILDERS FORM PARTNERSHIP

Palmer Swistad and George Kooch, both general contractors, decided to pool their ability and formed a partnership last month. Now they operate as the Lemon Grove Building Co.

Already they have five houses contemplated for early starts. Swistad has been building in Lemon Grove since 1947. Woonah has been building since 1948. Separately they have built over fifty houses and several apartment buildings. Swistad built the L.G. Lutheran Church and parsonage in 1950. Both men live in Lemon Grove.

Local Hardware Men To Have "Week"

In Lemon Grove, and throughout the nation, members of the Hardware Retailers' Association are marking a "Hardware Week" from April 17th to 26th. Idea is to call attention to services that small local dealers offer in the thousands of small communities throughout the country.

Permission has been obtained from most manufacturers by this group to reduce prices on many nationally advertised articles during the "week" to attract the consumer.

Theme of the Association is to save on items now that will be needed soon anyway.

Across the Desk

ideas from other editors

BIGNALL JONES, editor of The Warren Record, Warrenton, N.C., in a recent editorial typed the people of his community in relation to how they stand on community improvement and progress.

Editor Jones' editorial was remarkable in that his classifications can be applied to so many home towns. Here is what he had to say:

"There are people living in Warrenton who love the neighborliness and the friendliness of the small town and are reluctant to see any changes that might destroy the atmosphere of a delightful place in which to live. These people actually do not want to see the town grow. They like it as it is. While we can not say that we sympathize with these people, we do have an appreciative understanding of their point of view."

"There are other people here who would like to see the town grow provided it does not cost them anything. Their first reaction to anything that tends to develop the town is to consider the immediate effect on their pocketbook."

"There is still another group here, a growing group, that has pride in the town and realizes that it cannot stand still, that it will either go forward or backward. Among this group are citizens who have a pride in their businesses, who want to see them grow, and realize that they can only grow through the growth of their town."

"And finally, there is another group, a very small one, which is like the shipwrecked Irishman who was washed up in an unconscious condition on the shore of an island. Regaining consciousness, he peered into the faces of others who had gathered around and asked, 'Do you have a government?' Told they did, he said, 'Well, I am again it.'

Politics Again

Grassroots editors are still commenting on the Minnesota primary, J. W. Kayser, editor of The Chickasha Star, Chickasha, Okla., had this to say:

"Not in a half century has there been a political upheaval like that which swept the grass roots of Minnesota... When over a hundred thousand folks take the time to write the name of a candidate on a ballot the politicians better take heed. The prairies are on fire."

"Nothing now can stop the Eisenhower band wagon. It has started to roll, manned by the common folk, and when a band wagon is identified with a certainty the politicians trample over themselves to get on board. The next ninety days will see the greatest political scramble since the turn of the century."

It's Our Money

From the Shamokin Citizen, Shamokin, Pa.:

"The trouble is that when most people, especially the average man, hears anything about the national debt and taxes, it is usually in a financial stratosphere, so to speak. Not one of us can think logically in terms of tens of billions and hundreds of billions."

"... But when we learn that the public debt lays a $7,000 burden on every family in the nation, then we have something to think about. It's something we can understand... It's our money."

Chest Mobile Will Tour County This Month

Springtime will be X-ray time for back country residents with the Chestmobile scheduled for the eastern part of the county in April and May.

"In our effort to give every adult, 15 years of age and over, an opportunity to receive an annual chest X-ray, and to save countless miles of travel, we have scheduled the Chestmobile for the back country during the Spring," Dr. J. B. Ackew, Director of Public Health, stated today.

"By the first of June, the Chestmobile will have made at least two visits to every part of the county since the program was initiated," Dr. Ackew added.

The April schedule will be as follows: Compo—April 17, 18; Jassumba—April 21, 22; Descanso—April 24, Alpine—April 26; Harbison Canyon—April 28; Jomul—April 30. The Chestmobile will have Saturday hours at Alpine on April 26, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., to accommodate those who work during the week.

The May schedule is as follows: Warner Hot Springs—May 13; Borrego—May 15; Julian—May 19, 20; Ramona—May 21, 22, 23; Lakeside—May 24.

The Chestmobile is a cooperative program of the San Diego County Tuberculosis and Health Association and the San Diego Department of Public Health.

Heart Fund Passes Goal

Successful completion of the 1952 HEART Fund drive in San Diego County beginning last February 1 was announced today by Joseph E. Rheim, chairman, with final mail receipts bringing this year's total beyond the $30,000 goal.

The money, Rheim said, will be used as set forth in the February campaign with 70 per cent allotted for research, education and community service here at home and the remainder going to the National Heart Association headquarters in a joint local and nationwide battle against man's number one killer—diseases of the heart.

LG SCHOOL BOARD DISCUSSES SCHOOL AID

At the regular April meeting of the Lemon Grove School District Board of Trustees on Monday evening of this week, the increased state funds for needy school districts which were recently approved by the State Legislature (Kirkwood Bill) were discussed when the tentative budget was presented.

These funds will make possible some upward revisions in teacher, secretarial, and custodian salaries for the coming year it is hoped. In Lemon Grove last year additional funds were used primarily for teacher salary increment increases, and the district now feels a need for an overall increase in salaries rather than a need for raises within just one group of employees. Considered in the maintenance of funds also is the growing district such as Lemon Grove. Greater sums are needed each year when more and more classrooms are added to the plants.

The legislature in Sacramento has met, in part, the financial needs of impoverished districts, but further state aid, it is hoped, will be forthcoming within the next year.

Byron L. Netley, superintendent of schools, has been granted an 8 day release from his administrative duties here by the Board to serve on a personnel selection board for the Los Angeles City schools, beginning April 21. The staff there is made up of representatives from the Los Angeles personnel office plus two or three group.

other schoolmen from elsewhere in the state.

Besides assisting the Los Angeles district, Mr. Netley stated that he felt he would gain an outside slant and fresh views on the procurement and employment of teachers.

S. K. Solleder, director of education, reported on the success of his interviews with prospective teachers at USC, UCLA, and CTA offices. Eight new teachers positions are anticipated here with teachers to be replaced. That means a total of at least sixteen new teachers will be placed under contract before September.

The teacher shortage is especially acute in the primary grades, and education graduates from San Diego State College are not sufficient in number to meet the demands of the many schools in and around the city. Mr. Solleder plans a similar visit North in the near future to talk with teacher candidates from some of the smaller colleges in the Los Angeles district.

The Board of Trustees voted one hundred dollars toward the expenses of a delegate from the Lemon Grove District Teachers Association to the National Education Association annual convention in Detroit, Michigan, this summer. This money supplements funds already offered by the teachers and the N.E.A. Upon his return, the delegate, as yet unnamed, will give a detailed report of convention activities both to the Board and the local teacher group.

Installation Set For San New Market To Miguel School Officers Open In May

Tuesday evening of next week, April 22, at the San Miguel School auditorium, the Lemon Grove School PTA will meet for the installation of officers for the coming school year. A feature of the program will be an interesting talk on summer recreation for children by Jack Hoxey of the City Park and Recreation Department. Seventh grade room mothers with Mrs. A. M. Robinson, chairman, will act as hostesses for the evening.

The executive board of the PTA met on Tuesday night of this week at the home of Mrs. T. A. Kewton, 2990 Cypress St., for the final meeting of that group. The summer recreation program, possible social activities of the association, and future Well Baby Conference plans were discussed. Mrs. S. K. Solleder, retiring president, adjourned the meeting at 9:30, at which time the hostess served refreshments.

Also attending were Mrs. R. H. Milner, H. L. Hensley, J. E. Rortart, John Dail, E. L. Lucke, E. W. Middleton, A. M. Robinson, E. M. Kinyon, R. C. Taylor, F. R. Chaplin, H. R. Alexander, Margaret Dierckx, Evelyn Whalen, and Messrs. John Blaine and Samuel Solleder.

Stocks and Bonds Inflation Hedge Says Broker

"Stocks and bonds are your best hedge against inflation," remarked M. F. Jackson, Jr., at the Lemon Grove Kiwanis at their Wednesday meeting.

Jackson is associated with the firm of Fewel and Co., investment brokers in San Diego.

"Anything with a trading or better value that fluctuates with economic cycles provides security against inflationary changes," he said.

The speaker was introduced by J. White, Kiwanis secretary.

John B. Dail of 3240 Olive St. was installed as the local group's newest member.

WOMAN'S CLUB PLAY NEARS READINESS

Rehearsals are well underway for "Return Engagement," the soap powder and listing a new 3-act play to be presented by the Women's Club on April 18 and 19, a few days after OPS said prices were frozen.

The play tells of the joys and trials present in a summer stock company. Beverly Hentgen is manager (not a LG market) had Ruth Conway, a trouper of many years in the theatre, will provide many laughs. Much of the comedy, too, will be in the hands of the Dr. James C. W. White, popular Lemon Grove optometrist, is not so.

Zelda Vernier is cast as the manager of the Playhouse, a likable, fuzzy, ex-education teacher and so regimented by controls. Others in the cast are Todd Ballantine, Jerry Hamilton Millicent Flowers, Daisy Leamons, Harry Donaldson, Howard Stiner, O. A. Patterson, Larry Shaw and Just Bower.

Irene O'Connor is directing the play.

Tickets may be purchased at the door or procured from Mrs. Al Ross H-4-0623.

The new $150,000.00 Davis Supermarket is heading into the home stretch and will be ready for an early May opening according to Jack Davis, operator of this firm. Just in case you've missed it, it's the imposing new building on the north side of Broadway, west of Main.

The 11,000 square foot building will house what Davis claims is the largest produce market in San Diego County. The rest of the store will not be so small either because there is to be seven check-out islands.

Davis entered the market field locally five years ago when he opened a big shop in Chula Vista. He tripled the store's volume in just two years. This attracted attention of distributors and manufacturers. They made food products available in carload lots which cut down on wholesale and freight costs. These savings are in turn passed on to the consumer.

As soon as the Lemon Grove market is smoothly operating, a new home for the Chula Vista market will be started across the street from its present location. It will be three times the size of the present one.

Inside Goodwin

I was reading the other day that the American Dollar buys only what 32 cents would have bought in 1933.

But the bureaucrats in Washington, dealing only in light & sweetness for the wage earner, has, by controls, supports and cuttings, driven the food dollar to 43 cents compared to what it would have bought in 1933.

There is little we can do individually about the condition until we express ourselves at the polls. I thought I could squawk to a grocery manager or two and at least blow off a little steam. I tried it soon after the OPS was brought to life. Shopping with my little woman, I observed a clerk marking out the price on for "Return Engagement" the soap powder and listing a new 3-act play to be presented by the Women's Club on April 18 and 19, a few days after OPS said prices were frozen.

That's when I squawked. The company, Beverly Hentgen is manager (not a LG market) had Ruth Conway, a trouper of many years in the theatre, will provide many laughs. Much of the comedy, too, will be in the hands of the Dr. James C. W. White, popular Lemon Grove optometrist, is not so.

Snail Control Baits Told

Spring weather in Lemon Grove has brought about a sharp increase in the number and activity of snails, observes University of California Farm Advisor Joe Coony. Spring and early summer is a good time to control them with poison baits. Treatments need to be repeated as long as activity is observed.

Commercial baits are available which contain calcium arsenate or metaldehyde, sometimes both, as the poisonous ingredients. In orchards, arsenical baits are broadcast under and around the trees, up to one-half pound per tree. Baits containing metaldehyde are placed in small piles between trees and where they will get the sun.

A home-made bait can be prepared by mixing 1 pound of calcium arsenate, 15 pounds of bran with sufficient water to moisten.

Traffic Accidents Cost Equal 25,000 Homes

Twenty-five thousand brand new $12,000 homes . . . a market basket piled high with $2 worth of food for every man, woman and child in the state . . . 1,500,000 new television sets.

Californians could have had any one of those things last year with the $324,710,000 (million) they spent in paying the price for traffic accidents, the California Highway Patrol reported today.

The multi-million dollar accident bill is based on National Safety Council figures fixing the average cost of a single traffic death at $95,000. California's 1951 traffic death toll was 3,418.

Costs of the items making up the $95,000 are $21,800 for the death, $639 for each of the injuries and $189 for each of the property damage accidents.

Accident costs include wage loss, medical and hospital expenses, repair or replacement of damaged property and overhead cost of insurance, but not money paid on insurance claims.

STATE CONTROL OF WATER

Water users throughout California will be heartened by the recent report to the Legislature that it is financially feasible for the State to acquire from the Bureau of Reclamation and to operate the Central Valley Project. This report is the climax of a year of study by the State Engineer and his staff in the Division of Water Resources, made for the Water Project Authority to report to the Legislature. The Legislature, in its recent session, included in the State Budget an item of $10 million to be used in connection with the acquisition by the State of the Central Valley Project. It is available until July 15, 1953, and is to be used as necessary to conduct surveys and studies preliminary to the acquisition of the Project upon a self-liquidating basis, and to pay the initial installments upon its purchase. This appropriation is of added value as an evidence of the State's good faith in its intention to acquire the Project.

TAKE-OVER OF PROJECT

The Report finds that the engineering and construction features of the Project are safe and adequate; that the available water is adequate; and, under the assumptions as to the value of water and power capable of being developed in the Project and as to financial considerations, that "the initially authorized project, and that project with the Folsom unit added, are financially feasible." This means that the Project can be bought and paid for out of the revenues from the Project and that when paid out the water will belong to the people of California and the water rights will be appurtenant to the land as they have been and should be.

The acquisition of the Project, according to the report, is clear legally so far as California law is concerned. The Water Project Authority may, under the Central Valley Project Act of 1933 and amendments thereto, own, finance, construct, operate, and maintain the Central Valley Project as a State project, may contract with the Federal Government or other agencies for financial assistance for acquiring of any works or properties in part or in whole, may issue revenue bonds for such acquisition, and may contract with other State agencies, districts, or local agencies to perform such services as may be appropriate to facilitate the operation of the Project.

THE WORLD AT A GLANCE

By Edward Clayton

We pass on to our advertising agency friends without obligation the United Press report that there are still 24 "un-days" left in 1952 as announced by the Department of Commerce. All the weeks and months have been taken and some many times. But 24 days remain unobserved and undesignated for any sort of national observance. There are so many commemorations on schedule this year that nobody will be left alone even on "National Leave Us Alone Week." This period is also listed as National Conservation, National Launch and National Packaging weeks. One hundred and forty-seven official weeks and 22 months are listed on the Commerce Department's calendar but only 342 days even though it's Leap Year. Well, we might tentatively set these aside as National Catching Up on the Special Events We Failed to Observe days. (Salt Lake Tribune)

REPEAT 1929? An eastern investment expert who recently visited out here commented that people in the West seem much more "speculatively minded" than in the East. After looking at a San Francisco stock brokerage office he said "it looks like 1929 all over again." His observation will come as a surprise to many people who have been holding onto their spare cash and resisting the temptation to speculate. But it should serve as a warning to those who feel the speculative urge. To be sure buying and selling stocks is a normal part of the American economic system. But the stock market is no place for the person of modest means to try to make a quick killing. If he guesses wrong he can quickly lose as much or more than he hopes to gain. The most sensible thing is to save your money (but don't bank at home) and build up your reserve. A few hundred dollars in hand are worth more than thousands in prospect.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLDTIMERS

From Mrs. N. K. Rehrbeck, Newberg, Ore.: "I remember my first ice cream cone. The ice cream man made the cones on a small square waffle iron. They were of a thin, sweetish batter cooked very quick and rolled on a cone-shaped form of metal. He was very deft and quick, always giving just the right twist to the form to wrap the thin strip around it while warm and put it aside to cool before filling with ice cream."

From Mrs. James L. Masan, Duluth, Minn.: "I remember when I was a little girl we four girls had to take our turn cleaning the silverware with white wood ash and cleaning about 10 old kerosene lamps. We polished our shoes Saturday evening. We weren't allowed to do any work on Sunday, so every thing was always ready for Sunday school and church in the m. My father had Bible reading each morning before we ate."

From George H. Briggs, Los Angeles: "I remember the centennial Fourth of July celebration in our village in central Iowa. The day opened with a salute by a brass cannon that had served in the War between the States. It was on the grounds across the street from my home. There also at night were displayed the fireworks and the tableau. The main gathering was in a meadow at the edge of town. A war colonel was speaker of the day. A cavalry captain was the officer of the day. There were games, races, and other amusements. Country folks came in farm wagons decorated with flags. The only casualties were small boys' fingers burned with firecrackers."

Timely Tips

Keeping up interest in a winter-weary wardrobe at this time of year is a problem, particularly with a budget depleted from income tax. But don't despair. Have fun playing tricks and treats with past-dated numbers by adding new touches of color and trim.

That love-of-a-print dress you should throw away because it is definitely worn out will make a stable collar and cuffs for your dark basic, and a bit of it, too, can trim your hat to complete the ensemble. New buttons will put a bold, new front on that little suit you wear and wear. Pick something flashy now, like shiny jets or those big decked with brilliant jewels or lustrous pearls.

Part that full-skirted dress to a sheath, shorten the sleeves and scoop out the neckline and you have a dream of a dinner dress that's slim and trim. Or, vice versa, slash off a sheath dress at the hip line and add two deep founces of tulle and you have a swishy new silhouette.

Urges Strong America

"Security is for the strong" — strong in defense and strong economically is the observation of Congressman Medal of Honor winner Capt. Raymond Harvey of Atascadero, Calif., shown above. The Captain knows from the latter experience of actual warfare, the necessity for unity in action on all fronts, between the defense forces and those at home. "The boys have been doing their job, and a big one," he declares, "but they need your united support."

"One of the most effective means of proving that support is in heavier purchases of U. S. Defense Bonds. The old 'War Bonds' slogan 'Buy 'til it hurts' still holds good. We know that when Americans are buying Defense Bonds they are really helping us. I urge that every American get behind 'America's Defense Bond Drive.'"

Despite painful wounds, Capt. Harvey suddenly knocked out four enemy positions which were pinning down his outfit.

Sheik Julian

By RICHARD HILL WILKINSON

JULIAN had that something that fascinated women. It would be difficult to describe what it was, for goodness knows those young swains at Leyton who were about Julian's age, tried hard enough. And none of them could reach a satisfactory explanation. They envied Julian. Whenever a new girl came to town they hoped she wouldn't see him, because when that happened, none of them had a chance.

A more authoritative source might have described Julian's possession as "it." True, he was tall and muscular and handsome. When he smiled he seemed to light up the atmosphere for miles. But whatever this peculiar charm of Julian's, he was wholly unaware of it. If accused of being flirtatious he would have shown surprise, and probably embarrassment.

This unawareness wasn't a pose, for when Julian was 24 he fell in love with Irene Hood, a rather plain girl, who was not very young. They were married a year later, and the young swains heaved a blessed sigh of relief. Now, thought they, with Sheik Julian out of the running they might have a chance with some of the smart looking girls who came to Leyton to spend their summer vacations.

Poor boys. Little did they know that a mere wife meant nothing to the smart girls who came to Leyton for their summer vacations. Take, for example, the night that Julian took his new wife to The Gardens to dance. There were perhaps a half dozen new girls there, and the minute they saw Julian they made it their business to wangle an introduction. Much to the disgust of the swains, and much to the fury of Irene, as for Julian, he took it all as a matter of course. He smiled and acted friendly and couldn't understand why it was that Irene wanted to go home so early. He found out when they reached the house.

"Julian Pierce, you deliberately flirted with those girls!"

"What?" Julian's mouth fell open.

"It was disgraceful. I was never so mortified in my life!"

"Why, for goodness' sake, honey, you're crazy! I never even noticed them. I've never noticed any girl but you, and never will!"

Irene had to be satisfied. Julian looked so simple and honest. Things went along smoothly for awhile, till the night of the Grange whist party. There was a girl there named Helene Jensen, who managed to sit at Julian's table. She monopolized him. She sent him out for a glass of water. And then went out after him.

Irene was wild. They had another session. Julian's chin set in a firm line. "Look here, Irene, you're accusing me of something I'm entirely innocent of."

"You and that Jensen woman made an excuse to get out in the hall alone, didn't you?"

"For goodness' sake, Irene—oh nuts!"

ASTRONOMER'S CORNER

MONTHLY COLUMN TO STUDY SKIES OVER LEMON GROVE

By Uranus

Lemon Grove, being situated some eight miles from the bright lights of the city of San Diego, offers an excellent opportunity to its residents to become familiar with some of the stars and planets and to know the very real pleasure that comes from such familiarity.

Believing that there are many in the Grove who already have such an interest or who would like to develop it, the REVIEW proposes to run a monthly column designed to help them. The column will be conducted by a Lemon Grove amateur astronomer.

In viewing the heavens try to get as far as possible from all sources of artificial light. Don't turn on the porch light step out into the front yard and expect to see many stars.

PLANETS: During the month, two of these members of the sun's family will be visible before midnight. To the east clearing San Miguel mountain at about seven p. m. will be seen the ringed planet Saturn. This will be a little difficult to pick out because there are two other stars of nearly the same brightness in the vicinity. Saturn can be distinguished by its steady light (not flickering) and by its reddish color. It is a giant planet many times larger than the Earth. But its main interest lies in its rings which are not duplicated in any other planet. Scientists have determined that the rings consist of huge swarms of meteoric particles which for some reason never formed into a proper moon when the planet was formed. At about nine the second planet, Mars, should be rising over San Miguel. It is rather bright and will grow brighter as it approaches the earth during the month. It can be distinguished by its definitely ruddy color. Mars is peculiar in having two moons one of which is so close to the planet's surface that it revolves about Mars in less time than it takes the planet to turn on its axis. The result is that this moon rises in the west and sets many days later in the east. In the meantime it would be seen by a Martian to remain in the sky nearly motionless both day and night while passing through its phases from new moon to full moon without ever setting. If and when man is able to establish the often mentioned artificial satellite for the Earth it will take up an orbit so close to the Earth that it will behave in much the same fashion.

STARS: Almost directly overhead and just to the south will be seen the bright star Regulus of the constellation of Leo the Lion. It is a "blue-white" star and is brighter than any other in its vicinity so that it should be easily found. To the north and east will be found the familiar dipper of seven stars with the bowl upside down. If you will follow the curve of the handle on around to the south it will bring you in about "a dipper's length" to the bright and reddish star Arcturus and if the curve be carried even further and about the same distance, you will come to the bright and white star Spica (pronounced "spike-ah") in the constellation of Virgo. These three stars which are so easily found should leave you in no doubt as to which object in the east is Mars for that planet will be the only really bright object left in that region during the early evening.

Arcturus, Spica and Regulus being so bright and so easily identified are very often used by aerial and surface navigators for determining positions. To the Southwest will be found another very bright object the blue-white star Sirius. This is the brightest star (not including planets of course) in the sky. And this is probably the star that is also one of the nearest stars being only some eight light years away. The light year is not a measure of time as it may sound but of distance. It is the distance that light will travel in one year at the rate of 186,000 miles per second! You will understand why astronomers use it instead of miles if you will sit down and figure out just how many miles there are in a light year. Multiply the number of seconds in a minute times the number of minutes in an hour times the number of hours in a day times the number of days in the year. And then multiply the result by the speed of light per second, 186,000 miles. But be sure you have plenty of paper when you start. The final result will look a little larger than the Federal budget.

The Taruffi type automobile is owned by Howard Johannsen of Los Angeles and has been clocked at 171 miles per hour.

They haven't produced the atomic powered automobile yet, but something nearly as fabulous will be on display at the 5th annual Hot Rod and Moto Sports Show here April 24-27.

Among exhibits now being selected from among hundreds of designers and specialists of America's foremost sport and racing cars, is the twin-bulld Taruffi type automobile. The unusual vehicle, originally developed in Italy, has speeded 171 miles per hour, the driver and balist in one compartment balancing the motor and fuel in the other hull.

This year's show, at the Los Angeles Army, Exposition and Figueroa Streets, also will feature exhibits of antique automobiles, motorcycles, boats and aircraft.

Principal attraction, Baskys said, is expected to be the 342-horsepower custom built Cadillac which will be given free to some spectator.

Presiding over the event will be Earline Taylor, UCLA student selected as "Miss Hot Rod of 1952."

The show is sponsored by the Rosetta Timing Association with the sanction of the American Hot Rod Conference.

"SMALL BUSINESS" BY C. WILSON HARDER

More and more actions in official Washington circles become more astute.

It seems any idea is adopted into a program if it will accomplish two things: 1) Spend more billions of American dollars, 2) Make increased taxes imperative.

ECA's better known as the Marshall Plan has reached a new low in high policy.

The scheme is now to put American billions into every business in Europe; into every European labor union.

As already stated by William Foster, Marshall Plan head, billions spent on Marshall Plan failed to materially help the average European because European business is controlled by cartels, or monopolies.

European industrial production has been boosted 40 per cent above the 1929 level due to the billions of American taxes given these European monopolies.

This new plan has many new refinements. America will loan money to any European business now agreeing to American "expert" supervision.

In return for the loan, he must submit to an American efficiency team, as well as American labor "experts" who will dictate his labor policy.

Of course, any European may run his business without American interference, but no loan, and Marshall Plan and State Department officials do not expect much resistance.

They say that any European businessman who doesn't cooperate may have himself boycotted by the American people take action.

There is only one way this nonsense can be stopped.

That is for plain American citizens who believe in the American system to protest.

These protests have their effect. Just the other day Senator McNamara, member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, became very scandalous over the hearing of American businessmen in Europe.

It is said to be the first time he has gone on record opposing tax squandering.

But, it is reported, his constituents in Texas, have become fed up. This indicates that America can be saved, despite the bureaucrats, if the majority of American people take action.

A Pair of Skirts

Any resemblance to an idea long used by the man of the family is certainly accidental. The extra skirt provided with this ensemble is for double fashion. One skirt is plain as photographed, and the other, not shown, is in fine black and white checked fabric to match the coat. The whole outfit is doubly practical, too, because it is made of a durable blend of Celanese acetate, which is not resistant to wrinkle-shedding. The folded cuff on the jacket is adjustable.

PIG RAISING UNPROFITABLE TODAY

California farmers, not reducing their pig numbers despite present high operating costs, may benefit in the long run according to Hubert Heitman, Jr., swine specialist at the University of California. Heitman pointed out that the general trend at present in California is for farmers to farrow out fewer sows. He said that a recent state pig crop report showed that they anticipated 12 per cent less pigs farrowed during the spring of 1952 as compared to 1951. The high cost of grain coupled with the below ceiling price of fresh pork is making California swine production unprofitable. Many hog men are disposing of some of their sows because they feel, for the time being, it is a risky enterprise. Pork is one of the few meats selling at a popular low price because hog men are selling some of the sows and pigs that are usually kept for spring farrowing.

Appeasing an Irate Citizen

H. G. ESTES, Richmond, Calif., was employed as a deputy clerk and had more or less specialized in election work. One day after the primary election, he was called by another clerk to help with a very irate elderly citizen with the coldest blue eyes he ever saw.

Carnegie

"What is the matter?" he asked... and he smiled... "Car I be of some service to you?" The angry man said that his registration had been canceled and went on to say many things about people who wouldn't let good American citizens and taxpayers vote. What were our boys fighting for? Hostility and belligerency but mildly describe his manner. When he had given both barrels and a re-rod or two, Mr. Estes suggested that they check the record, saying that frequently mistakes were made. The record showed that the irate man was right. It was his son's name, not his, that should have been canceled.

Mr. Estes quickly decided to take the full blame for the incident. Although still adamant, he man showed signs of softening, sufficient for Mr. Estes to offer an explanation that due to the fact that 30,000 affidavits had been processed in less than 10 days, it was necessary to hire green help. This green help had doubtless made the mistake. Victory seemed in sight, but at this moment the old boy decided on another fling and he said, "Well, sonny! I want to know what you are going to do about letting me vote."

What to say next... yet keep down trouble! Finally, he decided to make an appeal to the man's intelligence and honesty. He had thought that under the law the man understood it was now impossible for him to vote. "Well, sir," he said, "you can vote but we both will be committing felonies and breaking the very law that gives you the right to vote. Is that what you wish? I have tried every way to help that I can. If this matter had been called to our attention election day, we would have been glad to rectify it, but it is too late now."

After thinking that over for a moment he said, "Well, son maybe I've been a little harsh with you, but I've been mad ever since election day. Just you be sure that my name is on that list at the next election."

With those words he left.

This PETTY PACE

By Brown Lee Yates

WE RECOMMEND CLEVELAND

land, Ohio, as a comfortable place to get a toothache.

You rush to a dentist's office, and, as soon as you're in the chair, you moan, "Is this gonna hurt, doc?"

Where do you think you are? The dentist soothes you. "This is no dentist's office, you know. This is a luxurious raft on the Nile. Two dozen voluptuous harem girls are reclining on that oriental rug over here. I'm Cleopatra getting ready to give you a pedicure. Open your mouth, please."

BUT YOU WON'T LEAP from the chair to flee from a dangerous nation. You'll take a good look at the oriental rug to assure yourself that the harem girls are still there and then settle back and open your mouth with a sigh of contentment. You'll be hypnotized.

Cleveland dentists are using hypnosis successfully to relieve patients of the pain and dread of the drill. You climb aboard the torture boat and look at the dentist wiggle his finger before your eyes and listen to him murmur in sonorous tones that you're dropping off to sleep with your head on Sacherarade's lap. When your eyes get hazy, an Arabian princess asks you to point out the offending molar, while far away a serene voice suggests the king's favorite is dancing before you. Novocaine is replaced by some oriental kikapoo juice that you believe you are quaffing and the whining drill sounds like a magic flute.

WHEN HE'S THROUGH, the dentist plants a suggestion in your subconscious that you return in six months and another suggestion that you pay your bill and then wakes you up. The bill generally brings you out of the spell right quick.

The Cleveland dentists must be a relief after the evil Dr. Jerk who uses hypnosis slyly, not to alleviate pain but to make it more acute—gives you the double whammy and convinces your subconscious that the drill is not a magic flute but indeed a dentist's drill, that you are a crocodile with jaws agape and a toothache in all 200 teeth and a porcupine under your tongue.

School Survey Helps Fix Government Responsibility

By Poe Darroch

The community has been growing so fast during the past few years that one often hears the question, "Where do they all work?" Every day new families are moving into Lemon Grove, and everywhere one can see evidence of new homes being constructed.

Through a recent survey taken at the schools in the district it has been revealed just where a large portion of our growing population works. This survey was taken to determine the amount of federal reimbursement due the schools for the education of children brought to the district by parents who are working for the government in some capacity.

It was shown that 375 students have parents who are connected with some military installation in this area. 327 children come from homes where the wage earner is employed by some federal government industry. 106 students come from homes where the head of the house is attached to a ship based at San Diego.

Out of the second group above, 228 have parents who are working at Consolidated.

The total, 808, represents, roughly, over one-third of the total enrollment in all schools in the district.

It has been the policy of the federal government to assume some of the responsibility for the education of children in such districts as this where a financial strain is placed upon the schools because of the influx of government employees. The strain is not caused not only by gains in the school enrollment but by a loss of tax money from exempt properties leased or owned by the federal government.

for United States Senate Campaign in Southern California.

Congressman Clinton D. McKinnon, Democratic choice as the state's next Senator, said Mrs. Whelan was given the post because of her ardent belief in the welfare of the state and her practical knowledge of state and federal government.

SHORTER TRESSES

HOLLYWOOD—Fashion strasses shorter tresses. Attractive film star, Coleen Gray, knows the importance of being in fashion from head to toe. Miss Gray, soon to be seen in "Models Inc." chooses this lovely gown in soft beige with green trim, originated for her by Hollywood's outstanding designer, William Stuart. And for her hair, she has created a version of the popular pompadour. Coleen calls her new hair style "The Pompadour."

Says Miss Gray, "In keeping my hair perfectly groomed, I have found Pinwae Pinwae home permanent is an ideal base for this and many other hair styles because the permanent wave is set into the fashion desired and the hair tends to fall back in the same fashion
after each shampoo."

Ratelle Runs For Re-election As Judge

Judge Jean Daze Ratelle said today he is definitely a candidate for re-election to the office of Judge of the Justice Court, Homeland Judicial District.

"Rumors that I would not be a contestant are unfounded," Ratelle said. I have served in the office since my appointment in January, 1949. At this time I was appointed following the death of Justice of the Peace George White, two months after the Court was created.
In 1950 I was elected for a four year term, however, due to the re-organization of the lower Courts it is now necessary that I again run for re-election.

"During my 11 years residence in Lemon Grove, I have seen the community grow, thus gaining a valuable insight into the ever increasing social, welfare and judicial needs of the area."

"As Judge of the Justice Court
I am ever aware of my duty to strive to fairly and impartially apply the facts of law to the testimony and evidence given in each hearing. There are times, however, when a decision is handed down it might appear unfair to the adverse party. This is a natural human reaction, as there can be no "draws" in the settlement of an action. Then again, perhaps I was wrong. I like anyone else can "do" make mistakes."

"I feel that I have served well."
Due to my wide legal and judicial experience, together with my past record in this office, I am asking for your support in re-electing me to the office of Judge of the Justice Court, at the Primary Election, June 3, 1952.

Judge Ratelle resides at 7905
Lincoln Avenue in Lemon Grove, with his wife Jane and their five children.

A partner in the law firm of Ratelle and Forest he has specialized in Probate and business practice.

He holds an appointment from the Judicial Council of the State of California to sit pro-tem for Judges in various Municipal Courts.

For two years he was City
Attorney for National City.
He handled the now famous "Tidelands Suit" and gained a decision for National City in the amount of one million and fifty thousand dollars.

Prior to this time Judge Ratelle spent two years on the compilation and preparation of Hilkey's Law Forms, a standard guide which is now in wide use by the legal profession.

"I believe my worst decisions are those when I choose the wrong iron for an approach shot to the green. You see, I have earned the reputation as the "golfer easiest to beat" among the legal profession," Ratelle stated.
